MATURING PUBLIC-PRIVATE PARTNERSHIPS WORKSHOPS

The U. S. Department of Homeland Security, Federal Emergency Management Agency, National Preparedness Directorate, National Training and Education Division (NTED) is pleased to announce the certification of AWR-342, Maturing Public Private Partnership Course developed by the Mid-Atlantic Center for Emergency Management (MACEM) at Frederick Community College (FCC).

Without warning, the US continues to experience major disasters with widespread disruption and destruction. To prepare for these unexpected events, governments across the nation partner with private sector stakeholders to enhance critical infrastructure security and community resilience.

The 2014 Quadrennial Homeland Security Review indicates education and training is needed to further facilitate public-private partnerships. Additional sources identify specific needs including lesson reviews and training to establish goals, objectives, and best practices.

In response, the Mid-Atlantic Center for Emergency Management (MACEM) is proud to offer a Maturing Public-Private Partnerships (P3) Workshop.

Funded by the U.S. Department of Homeland Security and FEMA, this 3-day DHS-certified instructional workshop provides participants with innovative techniques and integrated strategies in order to bolster societal security, resilience, and preparedness in the face of the unexpected. Contact us today to learn more.

Participants are awarded 2 CEUs upon successful completion of this 20-hour workshop.
